CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION, WASHINGTON, D. C.:

"As you have previously been advised, the Government's force of stenographers and typists at Washington is so large that two or three hundred vacancies normally occur each month. It is only by maintaining a continuous recruiting campaign that the Commission is able to meet the calls for eligibles to fill such vacancies, and the Commission therefore requests that you continue to encourage persons to qualify for such positions. The Commission sees no prospect that the demand for workers of this class will materially decrease.

The entrance salary of stenographers in the Departmental service in Washington is usually $1200 a year, and that of typists is usually $1,100 a year; which, with the bonuses which are authorized throughout the fiscal year ending June 30, 1920, make the total compensation, in most branches, $1,440 and $1,340 a year respectively.

Very respectfully,
 "MARTIN A. MORRISON, President."

News Notes of the County's Schools

By Fay Clark Hurley

Three schools on Dead Ox Flat have employed Miss Crescentia Glatt as a special teacher of art and music. Miss Glatt spends a certain number of hours each week in each school, giving instruction in her special subjects. Miss Glatt's salary of $125 is paid by the school districts Nos. 23, 49 and 51, Pioneer, Jefferson, Park. This is the first experiment along the line of instruction in special subjects in any of the rural schools of Malheur county. Miss Glatt is well qualified to teach art and music and her pupils are receiving the same expert instruction in these subjects as are children in city schools.

Mr. Allen of O. A. C., spent Monday and Tuesday in Malheur county in the interest of pig clubs. Indications are that a number of these clubs will be organized within the near future.

Mr. Connell Cox of Ontario will teach at McDermitt for the remainder of the school year. Mrs. Echave, the former teacher, will enter Monmouth to complete her course there.

Mrs. Velna Rogers of Vale left for Owyhee last week to teach the lower grades in the school there. Mrs. Rogers was formerly a teacher in Umatilla county.

A new supply of report cards has been printed. Teachers who have not already received cards from the county office and whose boards are not supplying cards should request the number required for their schools.

The Skullspring school will be open next Monday with Mrs. Cole as teacher.

The school census is being taken this week. Every pupil should be listed by those in charge of the work. The State and County school funds drawn by the children listed is necessary to meet the higher cost of maintaining school during the coming year.

Any community in Malheur county may have a traveling library, a splendid collection of books from the State Library for school or community use, by requesting the books, paying transportation and caring for the books while they are in the school or community. The books will be selected according to suggestions from the person ordering them or the State Librarian will make the selection. The State Library is the property of the State and is supported by the taxpayers. It should be used by the people more extensively than it is. For more information concerning travelling libraries, write to county school superintendent or to the State Librarian at Salem, Oregon.

The Audubon Society will give a year's subscription to the well known bird magazine, "Bird Lore," to any teacher who will organize a Junior Audubon Class of not less than 20 pupils. Beautiful buttons will be sent the members. Audubon classes are organized for the purpose of studying birds and are of great educational value. Write the Secretary of the National Association of Audubon Societies, 1974 Broadway, New York City.

Miss Sue May Hicks of Portland has accepted the position in the Creston school.

Several of the schools of the county observed Columbus Day and Frances E. Willard Day. A part of each day designated for a special observance should be set aside for brief exercises. The study of the lives of our heroes and heroines has a powerful influence for good among children and no opportunity to emphasize the splendid qualities of these men and women should be lost. A long program need not be prepared. A few readings or one or two well prepared compositions written by the children after the story of the life of the person in question has been carefully reviewed by teachers and pupils and a little side talk by the teacher will suffice. These are splendid opportunities for teaching good oral and written English and to develop poise and self confidence on the part of the pupils.

Industrial club enrollment cards and bulletins will be ready for distribution in November. A number of the projects can be carried out during the winter months when the teachers are in the districts to give their aid and encouragement to the club members. Malheur county had two splendid representatives at the State Fair this year and new winners will be developed to take their places. Malheur county does not send the same boy or girl two years in succession. Mrs. Chas. Thomas is teaching in the Lancaster school this fall.
